

Conversation with Rural Law Enforcement Leaders

Wednesday, December 11, 2019

Regional Public Safety Training Center, Reno, Nevada

Hosted by U.S. Attorney Nicholas A. Trutanich, you are cordially invited to a Conversation with Rural Law Enforcement Leaders. The Director of the U.S. Department of Justice (USDOJ), Office of Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS Office) Phil Keith will be at this session to listen to your resource needs as rural policing executives, to exchange ideas on ways to improve public safety in Nevada, and to provide you with information on federal resources available to your agencies.

Conversations will include:

- Challenges rural law enforcement face
- Input on needs to support local efforts
- Innovations, training, and technical assistance available to support more effective crime fighting and public safety response

Participants will receive information about:

- Existing resources to support rural law enforcement
- Federal grant funding opportunities
- Online resources
- USDOJ technical assistance programs

Speakers include:

U.S. Attorney Nicholas A. Trutanich
COPS Office Director Phil Keith

To RSVP, please email the National Police Foundation Rural Policing Team at RuralPolicingRSVP@policefoundation.org.

The COPS Office has limited funding available to cover travel expenses associated with your attendance at this session if required. If you are interested in attending the meeting and need assistance in covering the cost of travel, please reach out to Joyce Iwashita at the National Police Foundation directly at jiwashita@policefoundation.org or by phone at 202-721-9790.

The COPS Office is the component of the USDOJ responsible for advancing the practice of community policing by the nation's state, local, territorial, and tribal law enforcement agencies through information and grant resources.

The mission of the U.S. Attorney's Office, District of Nevada, is to protect and serve the citizens of Nevada through the vigorous and impartial enforcement of the laws of the United States. We strive to defend the national security, improve the safety and quality of life in our communities, and protect the public funds and financial assets of the United States.
